

St★romat

were phototypesetting machines produced by Film-Klischee GmbH in Munich around 1975.

I own one of them including numerous accessories and type matrices. All pieces bear a typical Staromat logo which inspired this font. In original it was slanted by 18°, but my transcription is straight from two reasons: first, a very similar digital alphabet already exists under different name, second, you can slant it freely without any limitation.

The design has a touch of late 50's typefaces mostly used on vehicles and technical products.

abcdefghijklmnopqrstu

vwxyz@★☆EE$!?!&

012345678ABCDEFGHI

KLNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

